Capt. Hannum deals with a wide scope of subjects, all of vital interest to the people of the District. Metering the service, he concludes, after a study of the figures, tends to reduce the waste so materially that it is desirable to continue the installation of meters speedily. The Star has always supported metering to the imposition of metering upon the individual consumer before the larger water users were thus brought under restraint. It has been found in practice that the major part of the waste is due to the carelessness and prodigality of a comparatively few consumers, the United States government being a heavy offender in this respect. The Hobble Skirt.

As yet the "hobble" skirt is known to most people only through description and pictures. That it may never be better known is the petition of the sane. Mere foolishness often has found expression in odd raiment, but imbecility has but seldom taken material form as a fashion. That a woman who hobbles her limbs with one of these absurdities has had first to hobble her intelligence is certain. Every woman owes to herself such a dress as in a mouse emergency will permit her to
